

Bible Reading Plan

Around A Year With the Bible

Redeemer Lutheran Church, North Bay, ON
Enzo Pellini

Since I was a child, already at Sunday School, I have heard that Martin Luther wanted to translate the Bible into the people's language so that they could read and understand it. The Bible at that time was only read in Latin, a language that only the scholars of the church mastered. The Bible within everyone's reach and the illumination that comes from reading the Word of God were the intentions of the Protestant Reformation.

Unfortunately, in our days, in many parts of our Western society, the reading of the Bible is denied and rejected or even ridiculed. I have served in various congregations in various parts of the world, although I have had to see that few people read the Bible at home. It is a pity because there is an ignorance of the Holy Scriptures in the church of Jesus Christ. That leads us to have to accept any circulating stories out there that many times have nothing to do with the Christian faith. And I have seen many people who unintentionally become inculcated by teachings other than that of the Christian faith.

What version of the Bible to use? This can be a long topic for an introduction. But basically, it should be in a version that you understand the language. If you don't understand what you read, it's because you should change the version. If you have never read the entire Bible before, or English is your second language, I recommend using the New International Reader's Version (NIRV). Over time you will be able to move on to the New International Version (NIV) and other excellent Bibles like the New Revised Standard Version (NRSV) (which is used by our church, though more geared towards Bible connoisseurs and scholars) or if you like the older English style or you have been raised with the King James Version (KJV) (Bible whose English is now over 400 years old) you can use the New King James Version (NKJV).

It is a basic spiritual need to read the Bible. We need to at least make the time to read one chapter from the Old Testament and one chapter from the New Testament every day. Reading less than this, or not reading at all, can only lead us to spiritual weakness. Reading the Word feeds the spirit, it is as important as feeding the body. This is a simple Bible reading plan. In a year and a month, you will be able to have read the whole Bible and you will feel good about having read the Word of God. I hope that this reading plan helps you to go deeper into the Word of God and that you may receive the spiritual blessings that Jesus wants you to have.
